Slaughter Calls on Departments of Defense and State to Address Crimes Against US Contractors in Iraq

Both Letters Signed by Over 110 Members of Congress

Washington, DC - Congresswoman Louise M. Slaughter (D-NY-28), Chairwoman of the House Rules Committee, today sent two letters to Department of Defense Secretary Robert Gates and Department of State Secretary Condoleezza Rice asking that they clarify their efforts to address crimes involving US government contractors in Iraq. Authored by Rep. Slaughter, Rep. Ted Poe (R-TX), and Rep. Jan Schakowsky (D-IL) and signed by 111 Members of Congress, the letters follow allegations by Jamie Leigh Jones of assault and rape by fellow employees of KBR, a former Halliburton subsidiary, while working in Baghdad, Iraq.

“The brutal assault and rape of Jamie Leigh Jones is simply appalling, but unfortunately, is not an isolated incident,” said Rep. Slaughter. “It has become increasingly apparent that many women working for US government contractors are regularly subject to sexual assault and harassment.”

“Today, over 100 Members of Congress have joined together to demand answers. Let this be a wake-up call to the Departments of Defense and State. As they dole out massive government contracts with taxpayer dollars, they have an obligation to make clear exactly what steps they are taking to ensure that what happened to Jamie Leigh Jones and others like her will never happen again,” Rep. Slaughter continued. “There is no excuse but to afford Americans living at home or abroad the same rights to treatment, services, and proper legal recourse when they are victims of a violent crime. And, we will not rest until the offenders and contractors are held accountable.”

The two letters ask that Secretary Rice and Secretary Gates specifically detail their efforts to protect Americans working overseas for US government contractors, serve victims of violent crime, and hold offenders accountable.

There are currently over 20,000 Americans employed by US government contractors in Iraq.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

We are concerned about the Department of Defense's efforts to protect Americans employed by government contractors in Iraq from violent crime and to ensure the needs of victims are met. DoD employees who commit crimes are accountable for those crimes under U.S. law.

American citizen Jamie Leigh Jones, while employed in Baghdad by KBR, a former subsidiary of Halliburton, alleged that she was assaulted and gang raped by fellow employees. Afterwards, Army doctors performed a medical examination on Ms. Jones. However, the results of the rape kit were turned over to KBR, Ms. Jones' employer. Portions of the rape kit are now missing. According to Ms. Jones, she was then held captive under armed guard for 24 hours without food or water. State Department agents in the US Embassy at Baghdad facilitated Ms. Jones' release.

In another case, American citizen Tracy Barker, while employed by KBR, alleged that she was sexually assaulted by a State Department employee. Her alleged assaulter continues to work for the State Department today.

Unfortunately, these are not isolated incidents. Many other women have reported sexual assault and harassment while working for government contractors. Ms. Jones and Ms. Barker's harrowing experiences prompt us to pose questions regarding the DoD's overall efforts to address crimes against individuals in similar situations.

Prevention and Assistance

How does the DOD assist American civilians living and working in Iraq who are victims of crime? Does the DoD include language in contracts requiring contractors to ensure their employees live and work in non-hostile/non-violent environments? Does the DoD provide government contracted employees with sexual assault and sexual harassment training? If so, how and when is this training implemented? Does the DoD provide such employees – American citizens – with information regarding their rights as crime victims? Does the DoD have available resources for dealing with the aftermath of victimization?

Investigations

What is the DoD's protocol on rape and sexual assault investigations of government contract employees abroad? Does the DoD send information regarding allegations of sexual assault to the Department of Justice for possible criminal investigations? Who provides the forensic examinations and what is the protocol to ensure that the exams and evidence are appropriately maintained and a chain of custody is in place?

Accountability

What types of control and enforcement power does the DoD have over civilian contracting companies when their employees commit violent crimes? What is the procedure for receiving complaints from American civilian contractors? If a complaint is received, what repercussions exist, including contractual repercussions, for the contracting company? Have there been any contractual repercussions for KBR following Ms. Jones' accusations? What was the rationale of the Army Doctor that turned Ms. Jones' rape kit to KBR? Who is responsible for receiving rape kits turned over by Army doctors? After receiving a rape kit, who safeguards it and ensures that the chain of custody is not tampered?

Offenders

What policies exist for addressing American civilian contractors, who are alleged or accused of committing crimes while in Iraq? What safety mechanisms are put in place after a report of sexual assault to ensure the safety of the victim and other potential victims? Are the alleged offenders removed from their position? Are contractors required to terminate the employment of alleged offenders of violent crime during investigations?

Reporting

Does the DoD collect data on the number of reported cases of sexual assault and other violent crimes among American civilian contractors or government contracted employees? If so, how is that data collected and where is that data published?

Victims of crime perpetrated by employees of taxpayer funded government contracts in Iraq deserve the same standard of treatment they have a right to at home. We hope the DoD is working to prevent crime, protect victims, and hold contract employees accountable. Thank you for your consideration. Because of the urgent nature of this matter, we request a response by February 24, 2008.

Dear Madam Secretary,

We are concerned about the State Department's efforts to protect Americans employed by government contractors in Iraq from violent crime and to ensure the needs of victims are met.
